Art Unit: 3723

Claims 9-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

These claims are indeterminate of scope because these claims do not agree with the preamble of claim 1 which states that only an apparatus for use in pulling a line is claimed. Claims 9-10 appear to claim the line in combination with the apparatus for pulling. The scope of claims 9-10 cannot be determined.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1, 7-9, 11, and 12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Woelkers in view of Sawaf and Farmer.

Woelkers shows an apparatus for pulling a line through a raceway. Plural lines may be attached to apertures along the device.

Sawaf teaches that plural members may be attached along a chain.

To make the device 14 of Woelkers from a chain would have been obvious for one skilled in the art at the time the invention was made in view of the disclosure of Sawaf. One of ordinary skill in the art would have been motivated to do this in order to provide a convenient way of making the attachment device from readily available chain material.

Art Unit: 3723

Framer teaches that a threaded attachment means may be formed at the end of a chain pulling device. The threaded attachment means has grips 34 and a loop member.

To provide a threaded attachment means on the the end of the Weolders line pulling device would have been obvious for one skilled in the art at the time the invention was made in view of the disclosure of Farmer. One of ordinary skill in the art would have been motivated to do this in order to enable the line pulling device to be attached to fish tapes having a threaded connector.

Claim 10 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Woelkers in view of Sawaf and Farmer supra and further in view of Zimmer.

Zimmer teaches that lines may be releasably attached to a line pulling device by tape.

To attach the lines to the line pulling device supra by means of tape would have been obvious for one skilled in the art at the time the invention was made in view of the disclosure of Zimmer. One of ordinary skill in the art would have been motivated to do this in order to provide a convenient means of attaching the lines to the pulling device so that they won't fall off during the pulling operation.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1, 7, 8, 11, and 12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Farmer.

Farmer shows an apparatus for pulling including a plurality of linked mounts 6, an attachment member 23,9,10,14 wherein the attachment member has a threaded connector 23 at one end and a loop 14 at the other end. The attachment member further has a hex formation 7 which may be termed "grips". A line can be found that is smaller than the links of Farmer since lines are available in a wide range of sizes. A raceway can be found that is larger than the outer dimension of the links since raceways are available in a wide range of sizes.

Claim 2 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Farmer.

Farmer includes a releasable attachment member 7 at one end of the chain. To provide additional releasable attachment members such as at the other end of the chain at the attachment member would be no more than an obvious duplication of the teachings of Farmer. One skilled in the art would have been motivated to do this in order to provide adjustability thereby.

Claims 21-26 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected species, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Election was made without traverse in the reply filed on 12/20/05. Applicant's 6/8/04 response indicated that these claims do not read on the elected species.
